My name is Victor RomeroBeltran, and I am extremely excited to be writing this cover letter in hopes of being accepted as a front-end developer working for you.

I joined the United States Marine Corps because I wanted to learn discipline and leadership. I have been rewarded by my peers and chain of command with the Honorable and Faithful Service award for my military proficiency, neatness, and intelligence in the Marines and as an individual. Every month I am assigned to lead Marines to accomplish the day's mission and prepare for deployment.

I am enrolled as a Full Stack Developer student in the University of Oregon Bootcamp and expect to graduate on January 17th, 2024. I am currently considered a Junior Front End Developer.

In my past years after high school graduation I have worked for 5 different security companies investing and gathering security experience for a year in each company.

My experiences and achievements in my previous careers are an indicator of my commitment to excellence and my understanding of what it takes to excel at any given task.

Thank you for taking the time to read this.

Sincerely,

Victor Romero-Beltran
